SESSION 21

Making Moral Choices

It is not always easy to make the right choices, but we have the free will to choose to do good. In fact, if we did not have free will, we would not be morally responsible for the consequences of our choices or actions.

Directions: Read each situation below. Choose a step listed on the right that would help you decide how you should act. Then listen to your conscience and write a good course of action for addressing each problem.

1. You promised to go with your family to visit your grandparents on Sunday afternoon. Then a friend calls and asks if you want to go to a movie you've been wanting to see with a group of friends.

2. You haven't done your math homework. When you get to school, you tell a friend, and she offers to let you copy her work.

3. You are staying at your cousin's house for the weekend. You realize that the family doesn't go to church.
